AT GENERAL HARRISON'S HOME.

The Miners of the Federation Pay Their Respects to the Republican Nominee.

Yesterday afternoon delegates to the convention of the National Federation of Miners and Mine Laborers visited General Harrison at his residence. They were first met by Mrs. Harrison and directly afterwards General Harrison entored the parlor to receive a cordial greeting, and in turn to extend a cordial welcome to his friends. The spokesman of the delegation was Daniel McLaughlin, of Illinois, who, in making a short speech, stated that the object of their visit was to pay their respects to the coming President. He said that it was a body of men representing members of the various mining States of the Union, an organization not connected in any way with politics, yet he believed that many of the members believed in the principles General Harrison was chosen to represent, and he hoped the Republican candidate would be elected. In reply General Harrison said that while he had never worked in a mine, yet he was very familiar and well conversant with the danger of a miner's calling. He considered it the duty of the legislatures in all States where mining was being performed to pass such laws as would throw safeguards around the work so that the miners' lives might be preserved and prolonged. He said, further, that the wage-earners were in a better condition in this country than in the old countries of the world, and he was satisfied that it was due to protection. After finishing his brief remarks the General led the way into his library, showing his visitors the presents he had received. A number of the delegates remained in the city last night to witness the The rest of the day was spent by the General without any change in his daily routine. Among the telegrams he received were two from Vermont. The first was from J. C. McCulloch, at North Bennington, reading: "As Vermont promised in Chicago in June, so she has performed at the ballot-box in September. The Republican star that never sets ascends b.gher, and will never set." The second was from Senator Ed-munds, dated at Burlington. It was as follows: "Vermont greets you with more than 27,000 majority. Let all patriots strike the workers of sham and the enemies of American labor."

THE WHITE CAP DISTRICTS

Report of the Attorney-General as to the Facts of His Recent Investigation.

He Tells the Governor Therein that a Strong Expression from the People Would Materially Aid in Stopping These Outrages.

Attorney-general Michener spent some days recently in the "White Cap" district, at the request of the Governor, and yesterday he sent to that officer the following report of his investigations pertaining to the lawless acts committed by the organizations named:

"Hon. Isaac P. Gray, Governor: "Dear Sir-On the 2d day of this month I re-

"Hon. Louis T. Michener, Attorney-general, Indian "My Dear Sir—You are hereby respectfully requested to visit the county of Orawford and ascertain the status of the suits instituted against members of an organization known as 'White Caps,' and for which, several menths ago, I employed additional counsel to assist in their prosecution, and take such steps as you may deem proper to secure a speedy prosecution of the suits and also the apprehension, indictment and conviction of any and all persons who, as members of such organization, have been guilty of crime. such organization, have been guilty of crime.
"You are also requested to visit the county of Perry, and do what you can to bring to justice those who have been committing outrages in that county under the name of 'White Caps,' to the end that all such unlawful assemblages or organizations may be broken up, and the promoters of the same brought to punishment.

"I shall be pleased to receive from you at the proper time a full report of your proceedings in the premises. "Very respectfully. ISAAC P. GRAY.

"And I now beg leave to submit the following report: Your letter assumes that I have the power, as the Attorney-general of the State, to state in the prosecution of criminal cases, to take steps to secure the speedy prosecution of such cases, and to aid in the apprehension, indictment, and conviction of violators of the law, in the inferior courts of the State. You are wrong in this assumption. The Attorney-general has nothing to do with criminal cases except such as may be pending in the Supreme Court. [Revised Statutes, 1881, Section 5659.] The policy of our law is, in the absence of a necessity for executive interference, to make the inhabitants of the locality apprehend and pun-ish criminals, and it is a wise and salutary one. For this purpose local courts of criminal jurisdiction have been created, and judges and prosecuting attorneys elected by the people. It is only when a criminal case has reached the bupreme Court that the Attorney-general becomes clothed with power to act.
But when I received your letter I determined to make such investigation as might be proper, not only as a matter of courtesy to you as Governor, but because of the interest which I felt in the good name of the State and the enforce-ment of its laws. If I had possessed the power to take action in these matters, I would have acted long ago.

"For more than two years past the 'White Cape' have been continuously and defiantly violating the law in Crawford county. At the October term, 1886, of the Crawford Circuit Court, an indictment was returned against Thomas Courtney, sr., Thomas Courtney, jr., Isaac Sigler, George Sigler, John Sigler, Irwin Self, Gilly Graves, David Cosley, George Cosley and Alfred H. Kaylor. The indictment charges the defendants with having committed an assault and battery on George Seals, Sept. 14, 1886. At the March term, 1887, of that court all of the defendants, except the two Courtneys and Kaylor,, were tried by the court and acquitted. At the June term, 1888, the prosecuting attorney dismissed the case as to the Courtneys for the reason, as he stated to the court, that there was not sufficient evidence to convict them. All the parties camed were indicted at the October term, 1886, for riot in making an assault on George Seals, Sept. 14, 1886. The case as to all the defendants, except Kaylor, has been dismissed by the prosecuting attorney for the reason already stated. The same persons were indicted at the October term, 1886, for conspiring to murder Joseph R. Leonard, Sept. 14, 1886. This case, also, except as to Kaylor, has been dismissed by the prosecuting attorney for the dismissed by the prosecuting attorney for the same reason. "The same parties were indicted at the Octo-ber term, 1886, for conspiring to murder Ru-dolph H. Hutchinson, Sept. 14, 1886. The case, except as to Kaylor, has been dismissed by the presecuting attorney for the reason stated. Kaylor has been confined in the State Prison South for some time, having been convicted of another offense, and the cases against him are still pending. "At the October term, 1887, William Highfill was indicted for an assault and battery on Charles Lankford, Oct. 18, 1887, but the case was dismissed by the prosecuting attorney because of the absence of Lankford, who is said to have left the State. "An information was ledged against John F. Wright, William Wright and Lafayette Finley for an assault and battery on Nicholas Kirsh, with intent to murder him. They were tried by jury at the March term, 1888, and acquitted.

"All these cases were so-called 'White Cap' cases. It thus appears that fourteen persons have been charged with crime, and that none have been convicted. The judge of the Crawford Circuit Court is Hon. W. T. Zenor, who enjoys the reputation of being an honest, fearless and able judge. At each session of the grand jury he has delivered a strong and earnest charge relative to the 'White Cap' outrages, and has done all in his power under the law to secure the indictment and conviction of the offenders, and in these efforts he has been sup-ported by the prosecuting attorney. Each of these officers is not only willing but anxious to do all in his power to secure the apprehension, indictment and conviction of the 'White Caps.'

The judge of the Circuit Court has the power to appoint counsel to assist the prosecuting attorney in criminal cases, and allow compensation for such services out of the county treasury [Tull vs. State, 99 Ind. 238] and he assures me that he will not besitate to exercise this power in all proper eases. With a judge of such high character, a prosecuting attorney and deputy, the assistant counsel who may be appointed by the court, and the additional counsel employed by you, I think it safe to assume that the interests of the State will be protected so far as courts and lawyers can do it. But the responsibility does not end there; it rests largely with the law-loving people of Crawford county; for among them must be found the grand juries to indict, and the petit juries to convict, if sufficient evidence be adduced. I regret to say that I did not find such a general sentiment as must exist before there can be a successful prosecution of the cases which may be brought in the future, no matter how conclusive the evidence may be. The condition of affairs is not only deplorable but alarming. For at least two years past the most outrageous offenses have been committed with impunity by the 'White Caps;' they have in many ways shown their entire disregard for the law and its officers; they have driven citizens out of the county and out of the State; they have cruelly whipped their victims in the villages of the county without molestation; they bave dragged large numbers of persons from their beds and whipped them until the blood flowed to the ground; they have repeatedly flogged helpless women until life was nearly extinct, and they have procured the publication of their law-defying notices in the newspapers of the county. I have not given a detailed statement of these outrages for they have long been so notori-ous that you are, doubtless, well in-formed concerning them. From the organization of one band of White Caps' others sprang into existence, and now it is generally believed that all these bands are confederated together in one grand organization, covering portions of three or four counties. The number and the character of the violations of law to which I have briefly alluded, and the general belief that all these bands are combined in an organization for offense and defense, have brought about a reign of terror in the localities intested by the 'White Caps' which can only be fully understood by those who have conversed with the people there. Property has been so depreciated that it cannot be sold at half of its value. No one has that confidence in his neighbor which is so essential to a good state of so-ciety. All is doubt, distrust and confusion. The result is that some who are considered good citizens openly applaud the doings of the 'White Caps,' and others are silent who should be loud in condemnation. The newspapers have said but little in disapproval, and of those who have openly stood for the enforcement of law a number have been threatened with violence. Before there can be an indictment and successful prosecution of these offenders there must be a considerable change in public sentiment, and I am happy to say that, in my opinion, this change can be produced. Those who favor peace and order must be induced to take an open and courageous stand, and in this they should have the support of the local press, to which should be added that confidence which will come from a knowledge that the good people of the locality will be supported by every force known to the laws of the State. Unless this change in sentiment is produced, a general insurrection is likely to follow, and the Governor of the State will be compelled to suppress it with the military power, in obedience to the command of Section 12, Article 5, of the Constitution. As one result of such a state-of affairs, there has been recently organized there, as I am informed, a body known as 'Black

Cape;' and it is said that they place armed men each night on the roads in the region most infested by the 'White Caps,' with instructions | diers, to go to the Nati to fire upon any band of the latter which they | lumbus, O., next week.

may find. This is the inevitable result of long and widely-spread defiance and violation of the law without punishment.

"You have not asked for suggestions from me, but I take the liberty of making some, believing that they will receive due consideration, especially in view of the fact that the Constitution makes it your duty to 'fake care that the 'aws be faithfully executed'.

"I. I think that it would be well to recom-mend Judge Zenor to appoint assistant counsel. "2. To recommend the prosecuting attorney to appoint as his deputies such assistant counsel, as well as the additional counsel employed by you, so that they may be present in the grand jury room when the witnesses are examined.

"3. That, if possible, the papers in Crawford county be induced to denounce the 'White Cap' outrages and demand the enforcement of the

"4. That you attend the October term of the Crawford Circuit Court, while the grand jury is in session, and thus give the people to understand and realize that there is a force outside of that county which can be used, if necessary, to secure the enforcement of the law and protect the lives of the people of the State. I am will-ing to go with you and lend such influence as I may possess by virtue of my office. Such a visit from you would, in my judgment, create and arouse a public sentiment which would be productive of great good.

"I inclose a memorandum of a suggestion which I do not think should be made public. I did not go to Perry county for the reason that the efficient prosecuting attorney of that circuit visited the county and reported to me that there is no evidence of the existence of any band of 'White Caps' there. The sentiment there is said to be in favor of enforcing the law, and good order prevails. Respectfully submitted, "L. T. MICHENER, Attorney-general."

FEDERATED MINERS.

Election of Officers and Other Business of the Last Day of Their Convention.

Yesterday the fourth annual session of the National Federation of Miners and Mine Laborers came to an end. The work of the miner is unpleasant in the extreme, and a large number of people fail to credit him with the merits he most deserves. His work is accomplished under ground, is dirty, damp and unhealthful, yet a more intelligent class of workmen cannot be found in any branch of industry. At the opening yesterday morning the convention went into the election of officers with the following

Executive Secretary-Christopher Evans, of Ohio. National Treasurer—James Cantwell, of Indiana. National Executive Board—Daniel McLaughlin, of Illinois: John McBride, of Ohio, and M. F. Moran, of The selection of a representative on the board

A 10 per cent. per capita tax was placed upon members. Resolutions were adopted tendering thanks to retiring Treasurer McLaughlin, Executive Secretary Evans, and others. The convention then adjourned.

PHASES OF THE CAMPAIGN

Workingmen Bring Cheering News o Progress of the Contest in Illinois.

Ed Gould Shows Himself to Be a Falsifier of His Own Admission-Other Incidents in the Wide Circle of Indiana Politics.

Daniel McLaughlin, an ex-member of the Illinois Legislature, and a gentleman who has great influence among the miners, of whose craft he is a representative, said last night to a Journal reporter: "The Democratic pasty in my State is wholly disorganized. Its speakers and representative men are not stumping the State this year as heretofore, in campaign years, and I think the Republicans will carry the State by a larger majority than ever before. "You see, the Irish of the State of Illinois are going for Harrison and Morton in large numbers. You would be surprised at the number of Irishmen in favor of protection. Even down in the southern part of the State, where the Democrats are the thickest the Republicans have hopes of carrying their ticket. The Democrats are fighting this campaign on the 'still hunt' plan. They are going about secretly among the laboring men whispering in their ears all this bash about Harrison and the Chinese. It is not going to do them any good, for I know that the miners in the State of Illinois are threefourths of them for Harrison and protection."

Mr. P. H. Donnelly, of Springfield, Ill, another leading miner, was confident of great results in Illinois for the Republican party. He knew, he said, that a large majority of the miners in his State were out square-footed for Harrison and protection of American industries. He said that while in Chicago, recently, he was told that next week 1,000 Irish protectionists from that city were coming to Indianapolis to call on Harrison and assure him of their support."

Ed Gould's Statement. Ed Gould, who is largely instrumental in eirculating the slanderous statements against General Harrison, and particularly the lie as to the General saying one dollar a day was enough for any workingman, is known here as an irresponsible fellow, and that he should convict himself of lying is not strange to those who can accurately gauge the value of any political statements coming from him. The following affidavits fix the seal upon him Thoroughly Americanized.

An amusing but very significant incident occurred at the meeting in the First ward Wednes day night, which was addressed by Mr. Potts. The speaker drew a comparison between the conditions of the laboring people in England gave the party the name. The effect of the and America, claiming that the American policy lighted house and grounds and the costumes of protection accounted very largely for the betof protection accounted very largely for the better condition of the workingman in this country, and that the greed of English manufacturers to control the markets of the world resulted in the sale of products at such prices as to compel the reduction of wages to starvation rates, leaving no margin for the comforts enjoyed in this country. At the conclusion of his speech a young man came forward and said: "Look here, Mr. Potts, I want to tell you I'm an Englishman." The speaker, supposing that he had aroused the ill-will of the young man, and might expect some measure of retaliation, was considerably relieved and gratified by the next remark: "And I want to shake bands with you and thank you for your speech," continued the young Englishman. "You have told the God's truth about the business. England is pauperizing her laborers by her policy of free trade. She is bound to master the markets of the world if she has to starve her mechanics to make the prices cheap enough. I left England and came to this country and am an American now, and I thank God for it; and we don't want any change in the direction of English free trade." The young Englishman was Mr. W. B. Miles, a stationary engineer employed at Kingan's.

State Central Committee.

The Republican State committee held a short session, yesterday afternoon, and compared notes as to the condition of the work in the varione sections of the State. Chairman Huston made a report of what had been done since the last meeting. Plans for the furthering of the work were discussed, but so well pleased was the committee with the management of Mr. Huston that the work to be done was left entirely to his judgement. Mr. Huston will rapidly complete his arrangements, and speakers will soon be heard in every county. State issues will occupy a prominent place in all discussions.

A Letter That Was Lost.

The local postal service is still maintaining its record for losing and delaying letters. Another instance of neglect is to be added to the long one that has been growing ever since the Democrats took charge of the service. A letter was addressed by Joseph R. Perry to Robert A. S. Follette, at Georgetown, Ind. It was mailed to him in the Indianapolis postoffice on Aug. 3 and reached Georgetows, Ills., Aug. 7. four days later. It lay there until a few days ago, when it was returned to the writer. It reached here Sept. 5, over one month having elapsed since it was sent by the postoffice clerks on the wrong route.

Builders and Contractors, It is worth your while, if you are building, to investigate the Hill's sliding inside blind, which are taking the place of the old style very rapidly. Cheaper, handsomer, no sagging, no rattling, very light and durable; don't interfere with curtains, and can be taken out in one minute. Call and see full-size model, at 52 South Meridian

ODD DESIGNS

A neat design in sleeve links is of silver in mot-tled oxidized finish. On one end are two curb-chain pattern links, and a hollow twist bar does duty on the other. But this is only one of many. There is no end to the shapes and patterns in which sleeve buttons are worked in all materials. The same might be said of all similar small articles of adornment-pins, clasps, rings and so forth and so on. It is an interesting and instructive pastime to inspect them. Come do so.
